Malaysia's economy on track with strong growth and low inflation

Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim has declared that Malaysia is on the right economic track, citing strong growth, low inflation, and rising investments.

He called for continued collaboration to strengthen the nation's economy, which he said is underpinned by political stability and a peaceful environment.

Speaking at the Associated Chinese Chambers of Commerce and Industry of Malaysia's Chinese New Year Celebration, Anwar emphasised the need for dynamism from both the people and the business community.

He stated that such a shift is necessary to drive growth and elevate Malaysia into a developed nation, both economically and digitally.

The government will undertake several approaches, including assisting companies and small and medium enterprises in scaling up their businesses.

Anwar also affirmed that the government takes a serious view of issues raised by the public, such as delays in tax refunds, and will seek to resolve them. – The Sun

SC appoints LC Wakaful Digital as Malaysia's first social exchange operator

The Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) has appointed LC Wakaful Digital Sdn Bhd as the first Social Exchange Platform operator in Malaysia.

In a statement today, the SC said the Social Exchange is a key initiative under the new Capital Market Masterplan 2026-2030 (CMP) to broaden access and market participation to social impact financing.

The Social Exchange Platform will provide a structured and transparent avenue for non-profit organisations to raise donations for eligible social projects while enabling donors to have greater visibility over fund utilisation and the projects' impact, the statement said.

SC chairman Datuk Mohammad Faiz Azmi said the appointment of the Social Exchange Platform operator is a key step towards establishing a market-based, transparent and well-governed platform for non-profit organisations. It is an important milestone in operationalising the exchange. – The Star

Treasury yields fall after home sales drop by the most since 2022

U.S. Treasury yields moved lower on Thursday as investors reacted to the latest home sales data and looked ahead to the key inflation report. The 10-year Treasury yield was down more than 8 basis points at 4.098%, as was the 30-year Treasury yield at 4.733%.

The 2-year Treasury note yield was more than 5 basis points lower at 3.456%. The National Association of Realtors reported Thursday that existing home sales in January fell 8.4% from the prior month to 3.91 million. That's more than the Dow Jones forecast for a 4.6% slide to 4.15 million. Sales also declined 4.4% from January 2025, marking the slowest pace since December 2023 and the largest monthly drop since February 2022.

Also on Thursday, the Labor Department reported that initial claims for unemployment insurance stood at 227,000 for the week ended Feb. 7. While that figure was 5,000 less than the prior week's total, it is a bit more than the 225,000 the economists polled by Dow Jones were expecting.

Investors are still weighing the January nonfarm payrolls report, which showed job growth of 130,000 last month, coming in above Dow Jones' economists' expectations of 55,000, and much higher than December. The unemployment rate moved lower to 4.3% from 4.4%. – CNBC
