Foreign Investors Turn Net Sellers Pulling RM1.8 Billion From Bond Market

Foreign investors turned net sellers of Malaysian bonds in September, recording RM1.8 billion in outflows after strong inflows of RM15.9 billion in August, according to Kenanga Research.

The research house said the monthly figure masked a sharp reversal towards the end of September, as heavy selling of Malaysian Government Securities (MGS) and Government Investment Issues (GII) wiped out three weeks of steady buying.

Total foreign holdings of Malaysian debt fell to RM318.3 billion from RM320.1 billion in August, while foreign ownership of total outstanding debt eased to 13.4% from 13.5%. Kenanga said foreign investors had accumulated RM3.5 billion of Malaysian bonds up to Sept 17, including RM2.8 billion of government securities. Buying remained resilient around the US Federal Reserve's 25-basis-point rate hike.

However, as markets began pricing in further Fed tightening, investors reduced government bond exposure by RM1.6 billion between Sept 18 and Sept 24, while rotating RM2.5 billion into corporate bonds. – Business Today

Al-'Aqar Healthcare REIT lodges sukuk programmes with combined RM3 bil limit

Al-'Aqar Healthcare REIT (KL:ALAQAR) has lodged two sukuk programmes with a combined limit value of RM3 billion to fund investments, refinance Islamic financing and meet working capital requirements.

The programmes, with Al-'Aqar Capital Sdn Bhd as the issuer, comprise an Islamic notes issuance programme of up to RM3 billion and an Islamic commercial papers (ICP) programme of up to RM300 million, according to a Bursa Malaysia filing on Thursday.

Both programmes, however, are subject to an aggregate nominal value limit of RM3 billion, rather than separate limits totalling RM3.3 billion. The Islamic notes programme has a perpetual programme tenure, while the ICP programme has a seven-year tenure. Individual issuances may be rated or unrated, with the decision to be made before each issuance, according to the group.

Proceeds from the sukuk issuance will be advanced to the REIT to finance investment activities, refinance existing or future Islamic financing, and fund working capital and general corporate requirements. – The Edge Malaysia

Treasury yields are ‘really, really high’ but can come down soon, Bessent’s new advisor says

U.S. Treasury yields are likely to cool off after a surge to multidecade highs that alarmed bond traders and pressured consumer borrowing power, according to David Zervos, the Wall Street veteran who recently took a senior role in the Treasury Department.

“These real yields are really, really high by any historic standard, so I think we have some room to come down in the future,” Zervos, a counselor to Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent, said Thursday on CNBC’s “Power Lunch.”

Zervos’ comments come after the 10-year and 30-year U.S. Treasury yields have marched to 24-year highs over recent days. Yields in the global bond market have been on a tear as expectations grow for central banks to hike interest rates and corporations keep borrowing money to build out artificial intelligence infrastructure.

Demand for popular consumer loans such as home mortgages has dropped as borrowing costs have increased alongside Treasury yields. Zervos said the Federal Reserve and other central banks have reacted to short-term rate increases but said the longer-term expectation of rates and inflation hasn’t changed much. – CNBC
